

Dr. Sushil K. Seth

July 30, 1939 - April 9, 2025

Dr. Sushil K. Seth died peacefully surrounded by his family and close friends on April 9th, 2025, in Lenox, MA. Dr. Seth was born in India in 1939 and lost his mother during Partition when he was just 7 years old. Raised by his father, who put him and his brother through medical school, Dr. Seth did his residency in Bolton, England where he met his wife Anne, a nurse at the hospital. Along with their two children, they moved to the states in 1977 when Dr. Seth accepted a position at BMC. He was an anesthesiologist at BMC for 25 years. Exhibiting uncommon kindness, humility, and patience, he was well-liked among colleagues, coworkers, and patients. He enjoyed cycling, cooking, reading, Tanglewood, traveling, watching baseball, cricket, football, and tennis, and spending time with his children and grandchild. He is survived by his wife Anne, daughter Anna, son Arun, granddaughter Sherene, and extended family.

Per his wishes, all services will be private.

“ Dear Anne and family,

I was so saddened to learn of Sushil's passing. He was the kindest man I've ever known and always enjoyed working in the operating room with him. May the good memories bring you peace.

With deep sympathy,

Rita Willey

“ My heart is broken. It was such a great honor to take care of your dad/husband; he brought so much joy to each and every day I was blessed to spend time with him. I will forever carry with me the sweet memories I had with him. Oh how I miss him! I am sending you all love, light and prayers that you may find comfort in knowing, he was such a bright light in this world that burnt out too soon.

“Anne and family—Sushil was a kind and gentle man. If surgeons were loud or contentious in the operating room, he would take them aside, calm them down and offer them a cup of tea. A unique and lovely person. We will all miss him and his peaceful demeanor.
