I remember when we where in the barracks goofing around. From our bunk beds was steps to the outside Lanai leading to the latrine. The floors looked like terrazzo but old. The latrine had swinging doors like the old time cowboy bars. Tom and I where goofing and I was taking a shower in the latrine. He was sneaking up on me and was going to scare me when I came out..... Inside the latrine the floor was the perfect height of about one inch, Tom was in the doorway waiting for me and out on the lanai, the funny thing about it was both doors had small windows and swung both ways..... Tom's foot was just at the right location and his Big Toe was situated just right , so when I opened the door I swung the door and it caught his Big Toe Nail and pushed it up and tore off his nail. He was hurting and we both laughed like heck as I took him to the infirmary. I still tell that story about his nail today....
Love ya buddy Den 🤘

“ To Jayce and Mireille and their families: I remember your dad as a young father, dropping off or picking up you two at your grandparents' home on Melrose Avenue in Pittsfield. He always had a great sense of humor and struck me as a wonderful father. So sorry to see him go before his time. May he rest in peace and his memory comfort you and your families. With love, from the Zarek Family.
