“ God bless you, Tom. May you rest in peace, and keep on keeping on in the next phase of your journey. I was looking forward to seeing you, on our most recent trip back to the Berkshires from Ohio, and especially of hearing you play "Back to New England." I've grown to appreciate that song even more, after being away now for two years, and longing to get back.

It was a pleasure playing with you, when we lived next door to each other on East street in Lenox for awhile, about 15 years ago now. I especially remember the way we played "I Shall Be Released."

Well, you've been released now, but you are sorely missed, and I was heartbroken to learn of your passing, just now as I was googling your New England anthem. All the best to you forever.

Love,
Jim Misseldine

“ Oh boy, this is pretty bad. Tom was a musical idol of mine as well as a dear friend. His songwriting was completely original and inspired. I was luck enough to interview him extensively on Chuck White's Prehistoric Radio Free Berkshires show on Live 105 and he was magnificently strange and beautiful.

Any time we managed to see each other play or, even better, play together, I would always make him play "Old Cape Cod" by Patti Page and he always hit it out of the park. I don't think I can ever hear that song again without crying.

So long, Tom...BR, Sean C.

“ Tom was a great friend whom I saw too little of over the years. I first met Tom about twenty years ago at an open mic in one of his visits to Florida in the wintertime. We became friends and he ended up renting a room from me in West Palm Beach for 3 or 4 months. At the time Tom still smoked a pipe and I'll remember the smell of his pipe tobacco and of course his continual working on and practice of songs. We shared many, many laughs together.

I last saw Tom about two years ago for one night at an open mic when he and Rose drove over from Florida's west coast to say hello to me and other friends of his...and of course sing and play a few songs. About 6 months prior to that, myself and my girlfriend at the time were spending a couple weeks in Portland, Maine. She and I were staying on Peak's Island and everyday Tom would meet us at the ferryboat and we would spend the day going to different sites and exploring while many a night we would find an open mic to play at before he would take us back to the ferryboat. That's the kind of guy he was - he would drive 4 hours just to sing and say hello to friends or be there at the boat to help make someone's vacation a little easier sharing his time and friendship.

“ *Peter, Pilar and Rosemary,
I can't tell you how saddened I was to hear about Tom. His music was a beautiful expression of who he was. I'll always remember his chuckle and smile from his crazy days as a teen in East Greenwich to the last time I saw him at Mike's service, and I'm sorry I won't be able to see and chat with him again. (I won't tell you about the night he and I discovered Tequila when he was at Roger Williams!) Stockbridge and The Berkshires will never be the same for me with the memories of both still strong. His music will always be on my playlist.
My heart goes out to all of you, he will be missed,

“ Thomas was my college roommate in 1970 at Roger Williams College (now University). He always had his guitar with him and kept me up to date on current musical trends. He took care of me when I broke my ankle a few weeks after the school year started. Thomas lost his dad quite suddenly back then which saddened us all in our residential unit. I was never to see Thomas again after that first year we attended RWC. I connected a bit on Facebook a few years back to see he was a life long musician. Good for him. I wish to extend my condolences to his family and other loved ones.

I'm very sorry to hear of Tom's passing. We always spoke about Mikes loss and of course his fathers & mothers. I was glad to reconnect with him in the schools just last year. It's a shock, such a nice family, we had alot in common. My aunt was his fathers executive secretary back in the day. I wish him well, safe travels.
